

ERRATUM

Erratum referring to the master's dissertation intitled "Analysis of the Requirements and Methods for SaaS Migration", made by Ana Gabriela da Silva Costa.

Page	Line	Where is	Should be
31	1	From the first phase, Awareness of Problem, emerged the inspiration to this project: to grasp the current difficulties of software migration to SaaS and to seek the resolution of the question established as the major goal of this research project "What are the requirements and methods to be deliberated in moving to SaaS applications?". From the Suggestion stage, arises the obligation of reviewing the literature to thoroughly comprehend the SaaS model and the essential migration requirements. In the Development phase, recommendations to accomplish the purpose of this project will be proposed. In the Evaluation stage, the propositions will be corroborated and validated through the analysis of a practical project of migration to SaaS. In the last stage, Conclusion, the results from the interpretation of the practical project will be examined, recorded and the derived knowledge will then be disseminated.	From the first phase, Awareness of Problem, emerged the inspiration to this project: to grasp the current difficulties of software migration to SaaS and to seek the necessary information to develop a model that can serve as guide for processes of migration to SaaS. From the Suggestion stage, arises the obligation of reviewing the literature to thoroughly comprehend the SaaS model and the essential migration requirements. In the Development phase, there was the creation and proposal of a SaaS migration model. In the Evaluation stage, the proposed migration model will be corroborated and validated through interviews with experts on the subject. In the last stage, Conclusion, the results from the interpretation of the specialists' interviews will be examined and the derived knowledge will then be disseminated and applied on the migration model.